ANZ Senior Economist, Adelaide Timbrell, commented:

ANZ-Roy Morgan Australian Consumer Confidence fell last week, its third consecutive weekly decline. The confidence level was among the five worst results since the COVID outbreak and has stayed below 80 for 20 straight weeks. The decline in the latest result was mainly driven by weaker confidence in 'current financial conditions'. Among the housing cohorts, confidence fell to a record low for those renting. It improved among those paying off their homes but remained below 70, while it fell for those who own their homes outright.

Consumer confidence fell 0.7pts
