ANZ Senior Economist, Adelaide Timbrell, commented:

Consumer confidence declined to its weakest since April 2020 and stayed below 80 for an 11th consecutive week. 'Economic conditions' rose, perhaps in part due to the announcement of the surplus in the federal budget on 9 May. Confidence fell for both present and future financial conditions and the subindex for whether it is a 'good time to buy a major household item'. Notably, 'current financial conditions' fell to its lowest value on record since 2001. Among the housing cohorts, confidence fell for those renting (-4.1) and those paying off their homes (-2.2), while it rose for those who own their homes outright (+2.0).
